Det bekræftes hermed, at kunstner Louis André Jørgensen er inviteret til at skabe et nyt værk til The Lake Radios tilbagevendende kommissioneringsprojekt Works For Radio med premiere til lyttearrangement i November 2024. Værket vil efterfølgende få liv i radioens rotation og er bestilt med hensigt om at skabe ny kunst til radiomediet.

WORKS FOR RADIO 2024 ~ THEME

This year's Works for Radio has the theme »Untranslatable«: A translation is a rendering from one language into another or a change to a different substance, form, or appearance. In the process of translating, something changes. And in that change new things emerge as well as some things gets lost on the way. This is the ironic nature of translation; as an attempt to give something a new life, not everything will survive the process. When a picture is described, it becomes a string of words, when those words are said into a microphone, they become electricity, when electricity is sent through a speaker, it becomes sound. Translation is a transformation, a shift in context, matter, and form. And with the intention of staying close to the original, we always end up somewhere else.

The Lake Radio is a non-profit art initiative in the shape of an online radio station. The Lake Radio is a constant stream of music, sounds and radio art from all times, all countries, and in all languages – for curious listeners to be challenged and inspired.
