SISTERS HOPE

ET POETISK LÆRINGSPOGRAM

Vi søger Københavns Kommune om at indgå et samarbejde med henblik på at søge puljen 'Artist in Residence under Huskunstnerordningen' hos Statens Kunstfond til marts 2025. Formålet er at tilvejebringe ressourcer og en platform til at performancegruppen Sisters Hope kan tilbyde og udfolde et kunstnerisk og poetisk læringsprogram som tilbydes til kommunens skoler og ungdomsinstitutioner (som fx Valby Skole og Viften på Vesterbro). Københavns Kommune vil ikke have direkte økonomiske omkostninger til projektet, der finansieres fuldt af Statens Kunstfond. For at lykkedes hermed vil kommunen dog skulle stå som den overordnede samarbejdspartner på ansøgningen.

Sisters Hope

Sisters Hope opererer i krydsfeltet mellem kunst, aktivisme, forskning og uddannelse. Vi er dybt forankret i interdisciplinære kunstpraksisser og manifesterer både vores værker på kunstmuseer, i det offentlige rum og som interventioner på andre institutioner som f.eks. skoler og rådhus. Vi modtager fast støtte fra Statens Kunstfond og vores format Sensuous City blev i Politikken omtalt som en af Danmarks 5 mest betydningsfulde performanceværker nogensinde. I 2017 manifesterede vi Sisters Academy i Den Frie Udstillingsbygning som modtagere af Bikubenfondens Visionsprisen på 3 millioner. I dag står vi stærkt med et dedikeret publikum og en stor interesse og efterspørgsel af vores kunstneriske praksis både nationalt og internationalt.

Sanselig Læring

Som residence-kunstnere vil vi basere aktiviteterne på vores omfattende erfaringer med performancemetoden Sisters Performance Method - Sensuous Learning. Metoden er udviklet og forfinet af Sisters Hope siden 2008 og fokuserer på at integrere sanselige og æstetiske oplevelser i udviklings- og læringsprocesser. Metoden er forankret i en kunstnerisk forskningspraksis og sigter mod at "demokratisere det æstetiske" ved at gøre kunst og poesi tilgængelige for alle, uanset baggrund eller erfaring. Vi argumenterer for, at den æstetiske dimension har været underprioriteret siden Oplysningstiden og den industrielle revolution, hvor kognitive og rationelle opfattelser blev prioriteret over sanselige oplevelser. Med Sanselig Læring søger vi at genoplive den æstetiske dimension ved at fokusere på, hvordan kunst kan integreres i hverdagen og læringsmiljøer.

Metoden tager afsæt i "The Poetic Self" (Det Poetiske Selv), hvor vi hævder, at alle mennesker har en iboende poetisk kerne. Gennem forskellige aktiviteter og performative øvelser opfordres deltagerne til at udforske og udtrykke deres personlige poetiske fortællinger og sanselige oplevelser. Målet med Sanselig Læring er at styrke forbindelsen mellem mennesker samt at fremme en dybere forståelse af kunstens rolle i hverdagen. Dette opnår vi ved at aktivere sanserne og skabe et rum for poetisk udforskning, hvilket på sigt kan føre til en mere bæredygtig og æstetisk orienteret fremtid. Vores tilgang til læring gennem sanselighed er derfor ikke blot en metode til undervisning, men en kunstnerisk vision for et mere inkluderende og æstetisk samfund. En fremtidsvision som vi kalder "The Sensuous Society".

Målet med programmet er at vise, at kunst og poesi er en del af vores hverdag. Vi ønsker at styrke den kollektive forbindelse mellem deltagerne og fremme sanselighed i en hektisk og digitalt domineret verden.

Center for Sanselighed og lokal forankring

Vores engagement som artists in residence er sammentænkt med vores nye kunstneriske platform, Center for Sanselighed, som vi er i færd med at etablere i Valby. Denne ramme vil i programmet fungere som et smukt eksternt læringsrum som vi vil invitere deltagerne ind i. Vores helt grundlæggende ambition med Center for Sanselighed er at skabe en ramme hvor verden kan samles om det sanseliges værdi og betydning. Ikke mindst i forbindelse med det sanseliges potentiale i transitionen mod en mere bæredygtig fremtid. Det vil være et regenerativt og eftertænksomt åndehul, der står i modsætning til mange menneskers hektiske hverdagsliv. Denne kunstneriske ramme vil sikre os et stærkt fundament for vores virke som residence-kunstnere, hvor vi vil være forankret lokalt i byen. Vi har dertil etableret samarbejder med lokaludvalgene på Vesterbro/Enghave og i Valby med henblik på yderligere lokal forankring i de pågældende områder.

Afrunding

Vi håber meget at I vil være partnere på ansøgningen 'Artist in Residence under Huskunstnerordningen' til Statens Kunstfond. At bidrage til at realisere vores ambition om at skabe et nyskabende, relevant og ambitiøst kunstnerisk læringsprogram for unge borgere i Københavns Kommune.

Kommentarer/forbehold: Sammen med Københavns Kommune ønsker vi at søge Huskunstnerordningen hos Statens Kunstfond om honorarer til de performere som skal facilitere Sanselig Lærings-programmet i projektperioden. Københavns Kommune vil således ikke have direkte omkostninger forbundet i projektet. Da vi ikke kender kommunens præcise honorartakster, er dette estimerede tal. En stor del af programmet vil blive afviklet i vores kommende kunstneriske platform, Center for Sanselighed, i Valby. Ligeledes modtager Sisters Hope årligt 1.3 millioner i driftsstøtte fra Statens Kunstfond hvilket sikrer kapaciteten til at organisere og administrere projektet internt hos Sisters Hope.

CV

THE PERFORMANCE GROUP AND MOVEMENT SISTERS HOPE

Sisters Hope is an award-winning and nationally and internationally acclaimed performance group that operates at the intersection of performance art, research, activism, and education. They apply immersive, interventionist and intimate interactivity when they manifest their unique performances. They are currently working to manifest more sensuous and poetic environments and landscapes for being, being together and learning.

Sisters Hope is a Nordic-based performance group and movement with an associated international troop of performers and creatives from various backgrounds. Sisters Hope operate from their articulated vision of The Sensuous Society: The Sensuous Society: Beyond economic rationality. Suggesting a sensuous mode of being in the world. Do also see the two TEDx – Uppsala University (2015) a Society Carving the path towards a sustainable future through aesthetic inhabitation argued that we must create spaces, not only for participation in, but also for inhabitation of the sensuous and poetic through the arts to transition into a more long-term project Sisters Hope Home, a multi-year performance-installation in which the sensuous can always be inhabited. For many years Sisters Hope has aimed at enriching environments with an aesthetic dimension by exploring the connection between the sensuous and the sustainable. The poetic and the ecological mind and body.

They have developed their own performance method Sisters Performance Method. Sensuous Learning rooted in. Not a character, not a fiction but our inherent poetic potential that we explore and unfold. This is a requested method by many art schools and other educational programs both nationally and internationally and it currently runs as a four-month program.

TESTIMONIALS

"Usually, I find pieces like Sensuous Governing difficult. Often, I have found them sentimentally touchy-feely at best and self-indulgent, patronising, and self-congratulatory at worst. Not this one. There is a surprising and deeply believed quality of care, concern and kindness that imbues the whole performance and the whole space - a quality that imperceptibly then infects audience members in how they behave with each other. I felt seen and held, felt the presence of others also possibly feeling the same, and felt no discomfort or awkwardness even when I had no idea what was expected of me."

Vikram Lyngar, The Pickle Factory, Calcutta, India

"Sisters Hopes performances function as a complete universe, where you as an audience quickly become an integral part, if you dare and want to, as it requires you to step out of your comfort zone. In return, you will experience a unique opportunity to see and experience the world in alternative ways. Their performative practice and extensive scenography goes beyond the boundaries of what we normally experience in the universe of performance and visual arts and support experiments that open up new perceptions and development in the audience engagement."

Helene Nyborg, Artistic Director, Nikolaj Kunsthal

"It's a process that none of us will forget. Because of the intensity of the process, the way it pushed our everyday boundaries, the way it encouraged our sense of community and because things were so cleverly facilitated by the Sisters. Placed in a new framework and in a different context than the everyday life. An engaging and enchanting way of teaching that captivates all of the students. I have an absolutely uncritical admiration for the way the Sisters made the participants take part in their universe and how they made them subject to the structures and premises of the process."

Marie Lind, Teacher, Fyn Flow Gymnasium

"Sisters Hope makes an important contribution to the Danish art scene. They renew performance art by developing and presenting innovative formats, where the traditional roles of either artist or viewer are rethought. With their uncompromising concepts, they have developed performance art in new ways, where participation is replaced by habitation—what they themselves describe as inhabitation—and thus created a new way of thinking about the relationship between work and audience. Their practice has an international format and reaches beyond the institutional space by challenging our thinking about also the public space, its institutions of power and our sensory relationship with the world in which we live."

Marie Nipper, Director, Arken Museum of Contemporary Art

"Unforgettable, magic, irresistible. A work of art. Thought through and realized in all details to perfection. The aesthetic and the sensual as the storyteller combined with enigmatic activities. We find ourselves in a metaphysical world. All "normal" rules are removed or have got another clear language. If the world of metaphysics shall be convincing, the materials, the performance, the totality must be like one unity, otherwise it fails. The staging of the Boarding School is created like that with utmost care in all details. As a guest or a student, you are embraced from the start to the end by whispered outspoken orders, performed with accuracy and seductive humor."

Everything is strange, but why strange? Because it is so consequently made, so beautiful, so deeply human, so widely open to interpretations. It needs your time, your surrender, your tenderness, and openness. It is a demanding piece of artwork, but if you surrender, it will stay with you forever.

The venue, the building of Den Frie is a scoop. The way the architecture of this untraditional classical building is being used to frame the artwork is brilliant. It is obviously how the building loves to be part of the activities, which underlines the symmetry of the architecture. And please give it some thought how much work has been done to stage this house with all the wrapping of fabrics, light, mirrors, carpets and objects. All this to make us, the visitors be part of another time, no past, no future but a contemporary fusion of it all.

I loved the constant subdued soundscape, I loved the clear-speaking trio of the Octopus, I loved everybody standing on the chairs before we could sit down to eat in the mirror dining hall, I loved the class of the well, I loved the combination of art, constructions, performance, natural science, sensuality, philosophy, aesthetic, I loved... Thank you for all of it. I am so thankful that you gave this experience to us. Since many years I have not seen anything like it."

Kirsten Dehlholm, Hotel Proforma

"Danish Cultural Institute together with Sisters Hope have taken the first steps towards a long-term strategic collaboration. We have high expectations for that. We believe that Sisters Hope's artistic formats will resonate worldwide across cultures and borders. Sisters Hope has gained great recognition for their artistic ambitions and ability to create poetic spaces in the form of sensual walks, meetings, and take-overs. We look forward to welcoming them to our institutes around the world, in China, India, Brazil, Ukraine, Turkey etc. in short, all the places where we are present and create relationships through art and culture."

Camilla Mordhorst, Director, The Danish Cultural Institute

"It will always live on with me"
